MORE ADDITIONS FOR 2012

With a battle in one part of the Amazon won (more), we are now turning our attention to a community reserve right next to the mighty river itself with our new 1-week project in Peru Amazonian plethora: biodiversity monitoring of jaguars, pumas, primates and other flagship species of the Peruvian Amazon > More

We have also added a new taster day location in Germany: Nationalpark Niedersächsisches Wattenmeer > More

Also remember our other additions for 2012:

- Slovakia \(wolf & lynx\)
- Malaysia \(coral reefs\)
- Emirates desert \(Arabian oryx, Gordon's wildcat, et al.\)
- Sampler days USA \(NY, CO, CA\)

In response to demand, we have now also added new dates to existing expeditions, i.e. in July/August to our Namibia big cat expedition and in July to our Altai snow leopard expedition.

TOP TEN TIPS

Confused about the plethora of volunteering options out there and telling the good from the bad from the ugly? Need some direction? Have a look at our Top Ten Tips, which were agreed by a panel of experts from Biosphere Expeditions, the Born Free Foundation, Tourism Concern and Operation Wallacea.

NEW ONLINE STUFF

Also remember that you can get video, picture and other updates from the field and all sorts of other up-to-date information via our Facebook page, so please become a fan!

THE MALDIVES – CLIMATE CHANGE INDICATOR AND THE NEED TO SURVEY

More than any other nation on Earth, the Maldives simply has to have healthy reefs. It is literally built on them, and requires reefs to support the infrastructure and the homes of the islanders, and provide the protein for the entire nation's diet. > Read on
